PROFESSIONAL COMMISSION - PROJECTS

Arthur Troop Scholarship (ATS)

The ATS as a legacy to the IPA founder Mr Arthur Troop OBE, is a professional education and advanced training bursary, with the aim of aiding IPA members in their professional development and promoting the International Police Association. It provides applicants with opportunities to acquire new knowledge, and a wider understanding of the similarities and differences between the operation of police forces across the world, whilst enhancing their skills through the training provided.

Since the scholarship began in 2004, over 160 IPA members worldwide have benefited from the scholarship and articles on previous experience can be found on our international website. The scholarship is awarded to 10 – 15 IPA members per year and these are announced at the IPA World Congress.

The application period runs between 1st April and 31st March and applicants must be an IPA member of a national section, have an active role in law enforcement and hold a valid membership of at least two years on 31st March of the year prior to availing of ATS. Successful applicants can use their scholarship the following calendar year. The total budget for the ATS is set at €25,000 and the maximum grant that can be given to each successful applicant is €2,500. Applicants are asked to complete an online application form providing the estimated cost of their scholarship. Applications which are not fully completed are not assessed. The ATS may be awarded to any IPA member active in a law enforcement role but is predominantly targeted at our younger members.

Young Police Officer's Seminar (YPOS)

YPOS is an International professional seminar which presumably targets serving IPA members that have served under 10 years and offers the opportunity to experience world-class presentations from leading police officers and academics, to learn from each other by shared experience and creates life-long bonds of friendship. Previously YPOS is held every second year, however from 2024 it will become an annual event.

Strategic Young Members' Conference

The Strategic Young Members' Conference is one day of workshops with focus on recruitment and retention of younger IPA members. SYMC is a future focused workshop aiming on how the participants can support their IPA Sections on return after the YPOS with their new global network and increased knowledge in policing and the IPA aims.

IBZ Gimborn

The Chairperson of the PC, Diego Trolese is the representative of the IEB on the Board of IBZ Gimborn which provides an excellent opportunity for promising members to join the IPA by promoting their participation in various seminars that not only enrich the knowledge of the members, but also help to bring them together while enhancing cross-border friendship. It is the IEB'S intention to make the IBZ Gimborn seminars more accessible around the globe by way of seminars and other virtual media.

Women in IPA #SHEisIPA

'Embracing an inclusive Vision for the Future'

There is an opportunity for the IPA to make positive strides towards inclusivity by not only embracing an inclusive vision for the future, but proactively going after it. We have to develop a project which seeks to bring women who are already in the IPA together, as well as making the IPA externally visible to women within Policing. IPA Strategy 2024-2027

Our primary goal is to significantly grow our association. This includes not only increasing our membership across the existing 68 IPA sections but also extending our reach by welcoming new countries and more diversity into the IPA family. We are committed to representing a wide range of voices and experiences, developing targeted strategies to attract new members, and ensuring we retain and engage our current members.

Diversity, Equality & Inclusion

Under our new initiative, we are excited to announce the appointment of a Diversity, Equality and Inclusion Advisor - Sunethra Senavirathne- (IPA Sri Lanka)

This role is vital in our commitment to strengthen an environment where every member feels valued and included. We will implement policies and initiatives that celebrate diversity, ensuring the IPA truly reflects the varied backgrounds and perspectives of our members.

We recognise the importance of continuous learning and aim to enhance our professional development training. This includes expanding our seminar offerings beyond Gimborn yet preserving Gimborn as our one centre of educational excellence. Exchanges remain highly beneficial to our members, so we continue to support these opportunities. We also plan to collaborate with police human resource departments to develop mutual benefits from our efforts, including official recognition of IPA education.

Sustainability is a crucial part of our strategy. We are committed to integrating sustainable practices into all our activities, aligning our operations with global efforts to protect the environment. This will involve evaluating and adjusting our practices to reduce our ecological footprint, promoting environmental awareness, and contributing positively to the communities we serve. This will be accomplished in line with our focus on our Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR), with projects such as tree planting, environmental education, sustainably acquired gifts, green IPA and much more.

Our strategy emphasises enhancing cooperation with international organisations to bolster our global presence. Key initiatives include strengthening our presence at United Nations locations, seeking re-admission to the Council of Europe, and establishing working relationships with Interpol and Europol. These efforts aim to increase our influence in global law enforcement discussions and provide our members with unique opportunities for international projects and collaborations. Embracing technology is also a key aspect of our strategy. We will invest in modern tools and platforms to enhance connectivity among our members and improve our operational efficiency. This includes developing digital resources for training, communication, and information sharing, ensuring that our members have easy access to the latest information..

IPA Marketing Project Chairperson - Michael Walsh (IPA Ireland)

Brand promotion is central to the growth of our association and effective marketing strategies play a pivotal role in establishing a strong presence and connection with police officers across the world. We have a new marketing commission who will now help to steer this growth by bringing in skills to strengthen the marketing of the IPA.

We have identified that social media continues to be the most influential virtual space to promote our IPA brand and generate brand awareness, it is therefore important that we continue our social media campaigns and increase our reach and thus our following.

From a financial perspective we find ourselves in a strong position, so we intend to invest in the future of the IPA to inject growth across all areas of our association and beyond. The IPA needs to be visible; we need to be seen and heard across all touchpoints. Such a far-reaching ambition is going to cost more money but aims to grow membership thus offsetting the costs. This strategy is more than a roadmap for the next four years; it is a pledge to our members and the communities we serve. We are committed to evolving, adapting, and growing as an organisation, ensuring the IPA remains at the forefront of international law enforcement.

IBZ SCHLOSS GIMBORN | EDUCATION - ENCOUNTER - FRIENDSHIP

The Information and Education Centre Schloss Gimborn (IBZ) is an international training and meeting centre, especially for police officers of all career groups and functional areas, which is known far beyond the borders of Germany. In August 2019 IBZ celebrated its 50th anniversary under the patronage and in the presence of NRW Minister of the Interior Herbert Reul.

The IBZ was founded in 1969 by the International Police Association aiming to promote international understanding, crossborder cooperation and civic education. Today an association with over 500 members from Europe and overseas runs the institution. There are both individual members and branches of the International Police Association (IPA). The IPA is the largest international professional association of police officers with approximately 360,000 members in 67 countries. Since its foundation in 1950, the IPA has been committed to the goals of international understanding and the cultivation of personal contacts, regardless of gender, rank, nationality and religious and political convictions.

The special Gimborn atmosphere characterises all events at the IBZ and makes them somehow unique. The old walls of the castle, which is privately owned by Baron von Fürstenberg, the idyllic ensemble of church, school, estate, castle hotel and castle of Gimborn, a town of 25 souls, as well as the scenic location in the densely wooded Bergisches Land exert their irresistible charm on every visitor.

The seminars offered by the IBZ mainly deal with current socio-political topics related to the police, but also deal with communication, health management and professional development. In addition to many German-language seminars, international, multilingual seminars are also held regularly.

The IBZ does not see itself as a school for adults, nor as a lecture company for academic knowledge. Rather, it is about enabling participants to exchange professional and personal opinions and experiences in addition to the very high quality lecture series. The IBZ Schloss Gimborn is unique as an adult education institution with its offer of further education and human encounters in unique surroundings for police officers, which is not only perceived across the federal states but also internationally. The possibility of sending police officers to attend seminars at the IBZ on official business has been used to a gratifying extent by many police authorities in recent years.

Today, the IBZ is supported by an association with over 500 members from Europe and overseas. These are natural persons as well as legal entities, mostly members of the International Police Association.

29 National IPA Sections
48 IPA Regions
172 local IPA affiliates
supported the IBZ 2022 as members

INTERNATIONAL TREASURY

The IPA is made up by individual members who pay an annual membership fee to their national section. From this national annual fee, the international levy, is forwarded to the Treasury of the International Executive Board of the IPA. The International Executive Council decides the budget at the World Congress. Additionally, the IEB accepts donations from members, organisations and businesses.

The International Treasury (IT) is made up of the Treasurer Finances (TF) and Treasurer Social Affairs (TS), and they have the overall responsibility for the IEB's finances. Their financial strategy is to maintain strong monetary governance of IPA finances while ensuring maximum spending value is achieved in supporting the sustainable growth of our association. The International Treasury includes the responsibility to:

- Assist host sections organise the IPA World Congress
- Liaise with IPA sections with regard to collecting the annual financial subscription
- Reimburse Delegates for their attendance to World Congresses
- Continue to support and fund the work of the IAC
- Design and circulate the annual membership card
- Prepare budgets and oversee related spending
- Engage in the day-to-day running of the IEB
- Work with our internal and external auditors ensuring high standards of financial governance
- Continue to support the work of the IPA Commissions in the promotion, development, and growth of the association
- Provide ongoing funding to the international IPA events, programmes, scholarships, training seminars and competitions

As well as the day-to-day financial functions of the Treasury, they are an integral part of the IEB team and actively participate at the decision-making table. We have witnessed in recent years how delicate the global economy can be.

The Covid-19 pandemic, coupled with the war in Ukraine being examples of the challenges that can bring financial constraints to the IPA world. However, our strong fiscal capital, and hard-working financial team of treasurers, auditors and accountants have provided robust solutions to carry the burden of these challenges. The international treasury remains in a strong position, and the dynamic treasury remain on hand to provide support and guidance to the IEB and IPA Sections across the globe.

The Treasury is an important arm of the IEB and a vital part of the IEB team. The TF and TS remain dedicated to their task and continue to deliver with professionalism, ethical oversight and to the core values of IPA.

IPA Emergency Aid

The IPA Emergency Aid provides financial assistance from the international level to Sections or members in need.

The IPA is affiliated through the IRC to the United Nations and many other International bodies whose mission is to help and support countries suffering the effects of a natural disaster. The IPA is an organisation built on the foundation of friendship, so it is important that they can reach out to their members with financial or material assistance where it is required immediately following a disaster. The IEB is authorised to make an instant payment from international funds. This aid can be applied in 2 categories:

- ✚ Emergency Aid Appeal : Official IPA Call for help, whether financial or material, launched by the IEB, in favour of a section affected by a disaster
- ✚ Immediate Emergency Aid: direct financial help from the IEB , in favour of a section affected by disaster

It is essential that when a disaster takes place within a national section, the Secretary General of the affected section or another designated member initiate contact with the Treasurer Social Affairs, so that rapid aid can be provided.

The International Treasury has played a vital role in the assistance provided to Ukraine by the international IPA community during the war. A significant number of IPA sections have collectively donated over EUR 70,000 in aid to Ukraine, with a substantial amount of EUR 38,000 already allocated specifically for projects within Ukraine and to support Ukrainian individuals in neighbouring countries
